About the Conclave:
Technology is being used in industries to improve workplace safety and is getting better and better day by day. Continuous innovations are taking place in the safety technology, safety gadgets, personal protective equipment, fire protection equipment, etc. New wave of digital technologies is found to be highly useful for prevention of occupational accidents and fires. Some of the new technologies are replacing certain conventional methods of working which involve human exposure to high hazards e.g. use of drones to avoid certain works at height. Further, virtual reality is becoming increasingly popular as a training tool in Occupational Safety and Health (OSH). There are number of softwares today available in the market, which support the Safety & Fire Professionals to perform their jobs in a more productive manner.

National Safety Council of India (NSCI), an autonomous apex level organisation set up by the Ministry of Labour, Govt of India will be organising its 1st edition of OSH & Fire Safety Conclave on the theme of "Enhancing Safety Performance through Use of Advanced Technologies", on 20th March, 2020 at Hotel Sahara Star, Mumbai. The discussions and deliberations in the conclave will be around:

- Advancements in digital technology supporting the OSH
- New developments in construction safety technology
- New developments in personal protective equipment
- New developments in fire detection & suppression
- New developments in safety codes and standards

It is expected about 300 to 350 delegates to attend the conclave comprising CEOs, Senior Managers, Safety & Fire professionals, and Line Managers from various kinds of organisations. There will be presentations by industry leaders, manufacturers, technology developers and solution providers. Some of the NSCI safety award-winning organisations will also share their success stories. The conclave will be followed by a glittering award function for NSCI Safety Awards 2019.

NSCI Safety Awards
A coveted national level awards in Manufacturing, Construction and MSME sectors provides a recognition and reward the organizations for their meritorious OSH performance and commitment to achieve zero injury, implementation of best OSH practices and encourage continual improvement.
